

WILL FIND MEANS TO OBTAIN FUNDS TO PAY SALARIES

Congressman Sherley Says Despite Veto Proper Activities Will Continue.

Government clerks will not have to work during July without an appropriation being available from which to pay their salaries. This is the opinion of Congressman Sherley, of the Appropriations committee.

"I do not know what will be done, because the committee has not decided but I feel sure that the proper activities of the Government will be provided for," said Mr. Sherley this morning. "You will notice that I lay stress on the word 'proper'."

As a result of the veto of the army appropriation bill, which carried legislation striking at Major General Wood as chief of staff, as well as other provisions of the Government, the bill is held up. The legislative, judicial, and executive appropriation bill, which provides salaries for the several branches of the Government, is threatened with a like fate when it reaches the President and unless provision is made for extending current appropriations the sinews of war in governmental affairs would be lacking after the close of the fiscal year, June 30.

It is understood that the most serious phase of the delay in passing the army appropriation consequent to the Taft veto is the financing of the militia equipment maneuvers in various parts of the country.

If some provision is not made for the militia equipment it may be necessary for them to ask the railroads to extend them credit.

Chairman Hay, of the House Appropriations Committee, does not believe the President's assertion that the legislation in the bill, which provides for a reorganization of the army corps in charge of the work on the Panama Canal, is dangerous, will receive any consideration.

HOWARD COUNTY FARMER FIRST TO SCORE WITH SPEECH

Marylander Strays Into Baltimore Hotel and Addresses Crowd.

BALTIMORE, June 18.—The first speech of the pre-convention week was delivered in the lobby of the Emerson Hotel today when Col. John Boone, a Howard county farmer, blew into town with a happy feeling and a calloped voice. Colonel Boone harangued the crowd for ten minutes. The hotel manager finally came along and offered him a room in the rear, where there was no danger of congesting traffic, and Boone and the crowd went back.

Boone said he was a Clark man, but somebody pinned a Wilson button on him, and he was so enthusiastic he didn't notice it. At the height of his oration, the farmer spellbinder said: "We've got a Senator named Isadore Raynor, and he's been mentioned for Vice President. He wouldn't give 'em an answer until he saw me. I said to him, 'Isadore, take it or I'll take it myself.'"

Boone said he served through the civil war with Congressman Fred Talbot, the only difference between them being that Talbot wasn't promoted as fast as was Boone.

RETIRED NAVAL MAN SUES FOR DIVORCE

Rear Admiral Couden, Whose Wife Lives Here, Files Action in Indiana.

Rear Admiral Albert Reynolds Couden filed suit for divorce against his wife in La Porte, Ind., today, as a counter proceeding to the suit filed by the latter in the District Supreme Court, March 17.

Read Admiral Couden is now living at 402 Spring street, Michigan City, Ind., while his wife resides in this city. In the suit which the latter brought against the retired officer, she alleged that they lived happily together from their marriage in 1883 until some time prior to February, 1911, when they agreed to separate.

Mrs. Couden stated that for some months she received an allowance of $250 a month, but this amount was cut down rapidly until last March she was receiving not more than $100 a month, which amount was not sufficient to permit her to live in the manner which her station in life required. She asked a limited divorce and maintenance. The outcome of this suit has not been determined.

The charges which Admiral Couden brings against his wife in the counter suit have not yet reached this city.

REPRIEVE FOR CATS PENDING RETURN OF JOHNSTON TO CITY

Order Held Up Temporarily But May Be Enforced Later.

While cat fanciers in Washington are rejoicing today over the decision of Commissioner Rudolph to hold in abeyance the edict ordering the death of all stray tabbies, a large number of residents disturbed by midnight serenades on back fences are anxious to have the disturbers put to death.

Cats have long been a bone of contention in the District, as they have in other places. While the owners of these pets have persistently pleaded with the police and other District authorities to give the cats more protection, appeals have poured in from other sources for the extermination of the animals.

The Commissioners' order to impound and kill all stray cats was issued with a view of preventing the spread of rabies, but the cats more protected so vigorously that it has been decided to hold up the order until the return to the city of Commissioner Johnston when the latter will be reconsidered.

The fight to save the cats in the District is being led by Mrs. Henry L. West, wife of the former District Commissioner. Mrs. West and the other fanciers take the ground that the cats keep the city free from rats. On the other hand statistics prepared by the Department of Agriculture show that the damage done by cats is estimated to run into the thousands annually, cats notwithstanding.

HAY DENIES ANY UNUSUAL FEATURES IN THE ARMY BILL

Takes Issue With Taft Regarding Legislation Tackled on Measure.

When the army appropriation bill is brought back on the floor of the House, it will be accompanied with a statement from Chairman Hay, of the Military Committee, showing that the legislation attached to the bill, to which President Taft objected, is not greater in scope than the legislation that has been attached to every army appropriation bill for the last twelve years.

President Taft's veto message gave the impression that the action of the Democratic House in adding legislation to an appropriation bill contained an element of novelty, and that by combining the supply bill with certain provisions adverse to the President had attempted a "strong arm" maneuver not to be countenanced at the White House.

Chairman Hay's statement will indicate that in his opinion there is no foundation for this objection. It will supplement and enlarge upon the opinions expressed by Chairman Hay immediately after President Taft's veto message was read to the House.

Sues for Damages.

Minnie Becraft today filed suit in the District Supreme Court against the Washington Railway and Electric Company for $5,000 for alleged personal injuries. She claims she was hurt in alighting from a street car on November 28, 1910.

Eye Talks
By Dr. Ralph Martin Samuel
Conservation of sight is one of the essentials of civilization. Glasses are needed by the majority, and the very best that science and art can produce. Struggling with type or needlework without glasses or through the media of scratched or dirty lenses brings deserved retribution. Don't let price deter—the best glasses only must be worn if the sight is to be permanently conserved.
